Comparison with other countries

According to the World Prison Brief the United States currently has the largest prison population in the world, and the highest incarceration rate.^{[6][7][8][9]}

On January 1, 2008 more than 1 in 100 adults in the United States were in prison or jail.^{[10][11]} Total US incarceration peaked in 2008.^[5]

In addition to the overall highest incarceration rate, the United States also has the highest rate of female incarceration.^[12] According to a November 2017 report by the World Prison Brief around 212,000 of the 714,000 female prisoners worldwide (women and girls) are incarcerated in the United States.^[13] In the United States in 2016, women made up 9.8% of the incarcerated population in adult prisons and jails.^{[7][14]}

Comparing English-speaking developed countries;^[6] the overall incarceration rate in the US is 639 per 100,000 population of all ages (as of 2018),^[7] the incarceration rate of Canada is 104 per 100,000 (as of 2018),^[15] England and Wales is 130 per 100,000 (as of 2021),^[16] and Australia is 160 per 100,000 (as of 2020).^[17] Comparing other developed countries, the rate of Spain is 122 per 100,000 (as of 2020),^[18] France is 90 per 100,000 (as of 2020),^[19] Germany is 69 per 100,000 (as of 2020),^[20] Norway is 49 per 100,000 (as of 2020),^[21] Netherlands is 63 per 100,000 (as of 2018),^[22] and Japan is 38 per 100,000 (as of 2019).^[23]

In addition, the United States has striking statistics when observing the racial dimension of mass incarceration. According to Michelle Alexander (in 2010 book), the United States "imprisons a larger percentage of its black population than South Africa did at the height of apartheid."^[24]

The US incarceration rate peaked in 2008. The US rate was the highest in the world in 2008. Chart is for prisoners per 100,000 population of all ages.^{[4][5]}

Correctional supervision rates by state

Chart below has numbers for people in adult facilities, and for people on probation and on parole.^[1] The incarceration numbers for the states in the chart below are for sentenced and unsentenced inmates in adult facilities in local jails and state prisons. Numbers for federal prisons are in one of the header lines at the top.

State female incarceration rates compared to countries

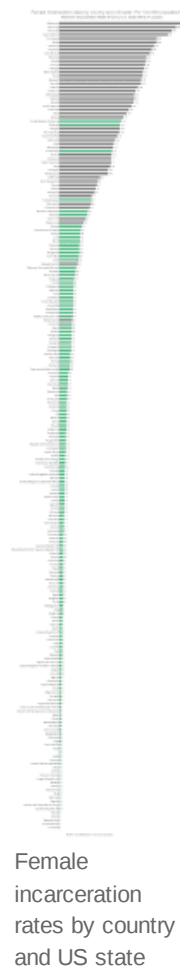

Female incarceration rates by country and US state. Per 100,000 female population of all ages. Female incarceration rates if every US state were a country. Incarcerated females of all ages (where the data is available). From a 2018 report with latest available data. From the source report: "Figure 1. This graph shows the number of women in state prisons, local jails, and federal prisons from each U.S. state per 100,000 people in that state and the incarceration rate per 100,000 in all countries with at least a half million in total population."^[12]
