United Kingdom

The data source (World Prison Brief) does not list an incarceration rate for the United Kingdom as a whole. In the list see United Kingdom: England & Wales, United Kingdom: Northern Ireland, United Kingdom: Scotland, Anguilla \(United Kingdom\), Bermuda \(United Kingdom\), Cayman Islands \(United Kingdom\), Gibraltar \(United Kingdom\), Guernsey \(United Kingdom\), Isle of Man \(United Kingdom\), Jersey \(United Kingdom\), Virgin Islands \(United Kingdom\). A rate for these parts of the United Kingdom as a whole can be calculated by adding up their prison populations, and then dividing by their combined population.

United States

The incarceration rate (per 100,000 population of all ages) is for inmates held in adult facilities in the United States. It does not include inmates in the custody of correctional facilities operated by departments of corrections in U.S. territories (American Samoa, Guam, and the U.S. Virgin Islands) and U.S. commonwealths (Northern Mariana Islands and Puerto Rico).^{[15][16]}

In addition, there were 36,479 juveniles in juvenile detention in 2019.^[14] For more juvenile detention information and numbers, see Youth incarceration in the United States.

The incarceration rate in the U.S. varies greatly by U.S. state. See: List of U.S. states and territories by incarceration and correctional supervision rate. It also breaks it down to male and female incarceration rates by state. See also: Incarceration of women in the United States.
